

Text of Email

Hello Tom and Karen

I wonder if you still think about our eight days in XXXXXX Watch in 20XX.

My personal Outward Bound challenge was to experience OB but not analyse it. I deliberately took no field notes. It has taken six years to put pen to paper and now I want to use my mental notes to write up our day climbing Mt Sunday. But there are some gaps in my story and some of the story is not mine.

For many reasons Mt Sunday was a day of great significance for the watch and from memory we had different experiences when we reached the wharf around midnight. Although I see my jumping off the wharf as a brave act, I see your refusal to jump as even more brave.

I would value talking to you about that day and just catching up in general.

I attach an information sheet and consent form that tells you about my project.

Martin Tolich