

Community Engagement within Research Uptake: Maternal and Child Health

This first webinar in our series exploring the role of community engagement within applying research to changes in health policy and practice, will focus on maternal and child health. We will be joined by two inspiring researchers who will share their experiences of using participatory research and engagement to improve health services and well-being in marginalised communities in Kenya and Bangladesh.

Register Now

Chair: Dr Titus Divala

Speakers:

Dr Elizabeth Kimani-Murage: Public Health Nutrition Specialist, Wellcome Engagement Fellow and Head of the Maternal and Child Wellbeing Unit at APHRC in Kenya

Dr Sabrina Rasheed: Associate Scientist within Universal Health Coverage, Health System and Population Studies Division of icddr,b in Bangladesh.

2 December 2021 13:00-14:00 GMT
(16:00 EAT, 19:00 BST)

